BUSINESS ITEMS:

1(a) Introduction of Council Members

The Broomfield Teen Council introduced themselves to Council Member Mike Shelton, who represents Ward 2, Council Member Sam Taylor, who represents Ward 3, and Mayor Pro Tem Greg Stokes, who represents Ward 4.

1(b) Overview of the Year's Goals

Mirella and Kristyn distributed a handout of The Broomfield Teen Council's yearly goals. The categories included learning, events, service, and debates which were organized in large to small boxes throughout the page (the larger boxes meaning more important). Learning is a major priority of The Broomfield Teen Council. This box had three major points, including Political Guest Speakers, Organizational Guest Speakers, and External Experiences. The next largest box of categories is debates. The debates that the Broomfield Teen Council plans on having include election debates which cover both local and state elections. Other debates will be about Suncor energy or other topics of our choice. Another main priority of the Broomfield Teen Council is to give back to our community. Volunteer events include volunteering at A Precious Child, FISH, the Mini Haha Triathlon, and helping Broomfield recover their youth connection. Events that the Broomfield Youth Council wants to partake in include Broomfield Days, the Broomfield Tree Lighting Ceremony, Broomstock, and the Great American Picnic.

1(c) Revisit Broomstock Topic and Formulate Response

The members of Broomfield Teen Council decided to create a committee of youth that will be directly involved with Broomstock. We are encouraged to join this committee, although it is not imperative to participate. Mirella and Kristyn have put together a response that will be sent out to Council regarding what we will do for Broomstock.

1(d) Start Broomstock Plan of Action

The steps that the Broomfield Teen Council will take to coordinate the Broomstock teen outreach include: establishing a committee, building a bridge within the schools to promote the event, and lastly, to create a post event review. In Phase One, the Broomfield Teen Council will reach out to established organizations. These include presentations to the Global Arts Studio, the Broomfield Foundation Youth Committee, and the School of Rock. The presentations will be conducted as follows:

- Charly, Lauren, and Travis will present to the Global Arts Studio
- Emma, Declan, and Maiya will present to the Broomfield Foundation
- Kristyn, Bailey, and Mirella will present to the School of Rock
- Mirella, Declan, and Travis will present to the Faith Community.

One person from each of these groups will send out an email to the group, finalize a few dates of availability, and email these dates to each organization to choose a date for the presentations. Next, the Teen Council will reach out to school youth. This includes three presentations to each of the following: Legacy, Broomfield High, Holy Family, Standley Lake (to be decided) and Jefferson Academy. In order to create the committee, the members will have to talk to teachers and find a proper date to present it to the class or club before late September. We will then administer basic applications, coordinate with leadership and adult organization, and help co-host the first meeting. There will be a common presentation and application. Before we present this to the schools, we must ask Dana what her opinion is on how to conduct the application and what the recommendations will be if there are no applicants. We discussed that should there be no interest that this would give the Broomfield Teen Council an idea on how to proceed. Phase Two comprises of marketing April through the event. The advertisements will include posters within the Broomfield Schools, Facebook alerts, Tweets, and an aggressive word of mouth marketing strategy. Word of mouth can be
