Kevin Standbridge Deputy City and County Manager

Mr. Standbridge received a Bachelor's Degree in Environmental Design, University of Colorado; Master of Urban Planning and Policy, University of Illinois at Chicago; attended training in Master Planning for Community Fire Protection at Rocky Mountain Fire Academy in Denver, Managerial Finance at the College of St. Francis in Joliet, Ill.; and completed the Senior Executives in State and Local Government program at Harvard's John F. Kennedy School of Government.

His previous experience included positions as Principal Planner and Senior Planner, City of Aurora; Director of Waste Services, Will County, Ill.; Planner, Will County; Planner, Cook County, Ill.; Construction Supervisor for the Peace Corps (supervised construction of water wells in Burkino Faso, West Africa); Chair, City of Joliet, Ill., Historic Preservation Commission. He was hired as Broomfield's Planning Director in September 1995, promoted to Community Development Director, and then Assistant City and County Manager. He became Deputy City and County Manager in 2011.

Mr. Standbridge is affiliated with American Institute of Certified Planners, Urban Land Institute, and is a member of the International City/County Management Association.